Trump now questions whether Iran intentionally shot down drone

The “unprovoked attack” comes as U.S. pursues an Iranian isolation plan.

President Donald Trump played down Iran’s downing of a U.S. military drone on Thursday, saying he suspected it was shot by mistake and that “it would have made a big difference” to him if the remotely-controlled aircraft had been piloted.

While the comments appeared to suggest Trump was not eager to escalate the latest in a series of incidents with Iran, he also warned that: “This country will not stand for it.”

Tehran said the unarmed Global Hawk surveillance drone was on a spy mission over its territory but Washington said it was shot down over international airspace.

“I think probably Iran made a mistake — I would imagine it was a general or somebody that made a mistake in shooting that drone down,” Trump told reporters at the White House.

“We had nobody in the drone. It would have made a big difference, let me tell you, it would have made a big, big difference” if the aircraft had been piloted, Trump said as he met Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau in the Oval Office.

The United States, which called the event an “unprovoked attack” in international air space, is pursuing a campaign to isolate Iran to contain its nuclear and ballistic missile programs and limit its role in regional wars.

The incident was the latest in an escalating series of incidents in the Gulf region, a critical artery for global oil supplies, since mid-May including explosive strikes on six oil tankers as Tehran and Washington have edged toward confrontation.

It was unclear how the United States might respond and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi said Washington had no appetite for war with Iran.

“It’s hard to believe it was intentional, if you want to know the truth. I think that it could have been somebody who was loose and stupid that day,” Trump said, referring to the drone shooting.

The Trump administration called top congressional leaders to the White House for a briefing later on Thursday on Iran, a source with knowledge of the meeting said.

Iran has denied involvement in the tanker attacks, but global jitters about a new Middle East conflagration disrupting oil exports have triggered a jump in crude prices.

“This was an unprovoked attack on a U.S. surveillance asset in international air space.”

Navy Capt. Bill Urban

Saudi Arabia, Washington’s main gulf ally, said Iran had created a grave situation with its “aggressive behavior” and the kingdom was consulting other Gulf Arab states on next steps.

Tensions with Iran

flared with Trump’s withdrawal last year from a 2015 nuclear accord with Iran and have worsened as Washington imposed fresh sanctions to throttle Tehran’s vital oil trade. Iran retaliated earlier this week with a threat to breach limits on its nuclear activities imposed by the deal.

“SPY” DRONE

Iranian state media said the “spy” drone was brought down over the southern Iranian province of Hormozgan, which is on the Gulf, with a locally made “3 Khordad” missile.

A U.S. official said the drone had been downed in international air space over the Strait of Hormuz, through which about a third of the world’s seaborne oil exits the Gulf. Earlier, a U.S. official had described the drone as a similar MQ-4C Triton.

A U.S. official said the drone, an RQ-4A Global Hawk, had been downed in international air space over the Strait of Hormuz, through which about a third of the world’s seaborne oil exits the Gulf. Earlier, a U.S. official had described the drone as a Triton, a similar aircraft.

Navy Captain Bill Urban, a spokesman for the U.S. military’s Central Command, said Iran’s account that the drone had been flying over Iranian territory was false.

“This was an unprovoked attack on a U.S. surveillance asset in international air space,” Urban said. The drone, he added, was downed over the Strait of Hormuz in the early morning hours of local time in the Gulf.

Separately, a U.S. official told Reuters on condition of anonymity the debris field from the drone was in international waters in the Strait and U.S. naval assets have been dispatched to the area. REUTERS

Senate rejects Saudi arms sales in rebuke to Trump

2 The Senate on Thursday voted to block the sale of billions of dollars in military sales to Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and other countries, rejecting President Trump’s decision to sidestep Congress’ review of such deals by declaring an emergency over Iran. Trump has promised to veto the Senate action in order to proceed with the deals, worth some $8.1 billion. Senators would need 67 votes to override his veto, which looked unlikely after Thursday’s votes. The first and second resolutions of disapproval passed 53-45 and a third vote covering the remaining 20 resolutions was 51-45. Backers of the resolutions, led by Democrat Bob Menendez and Republican Lindsey Graham, said they sent a bipartisan message to Saudi Arabia that Washington is not happy about human rights abuses, including the murder of journalist Jamal Khashoggi at a Saudi consulate in Turkey. REUTERS

‘Peace cross’ can stand on public land, high court rules

3 A 40-foot-tall cross-shaped war memorial standing on public land in Maryland does not constitute government endorsement of religion, the Supreme Court ruled on Thursday in a decision that leaves unanswered questions about the boundaries of the U.S. Constitution’s separation of church and state. The vote was 7-2 to overturn a lower court ruling that had declared the so-called Peace Cross in Bladensburg unconstitutional in a legal challenge mounted by the American Humanist Association, a group that advocates for secular governance. The concrete cross was erected in 1925 as a memorial to troops killed in World War I. The ruling made it clear that a long-standing monument in the shape of a Christian cross on public land was permissible but the justices were divided over whether other types of religious displays and symbols on government property would be allowed. REUTERS

Walmart to pay $282M to settle Brazil corruption

4 Walmart has agreed to pay a total penalty of $282 million to settle charges by the U.S. Justice Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission that its Brazilian unit violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. The retailer will pay more than $144 million to settle charges by the SEC and approximately $138 million to resolve parallel criminal charges by the U.S. Department of Justice, according to court and regulatory filings.

The settlement with the Justice Department was reached on Thursday in a federal court in Virginia. The department launched an investigation against the retailer after a series of New York Times articles in 2012 described bribes that Walmart allegedly paid in Mexico to obtain permits to build stores there. The reports spurred a wide-reaching Justice Department investigation of the behavior of Walmart subsidiaries across the globe. REUTERS

Jersey man held in Ortiz shooting

Rolfi Ferreira-Cruz was charged with drug, weapons offenses in an unrelated case.

A man being held in the Dominican Republic in connection with the shooting and serious wounding of retired Boston Red Sox star David Ortiz was charged in New Jersey on Thursday with drug and weapons violations in an unrelated case, the U.S. Justice Department said.

Rolfi Ferreira-Cruz, 25, of Paterson, New Jersey, was indicted in Newark on three federal counts, including conspiring to distribute heroin and cocaine and possession of a firearm to traffic drugs, U.S. Attorney Craig Carpenito said.

Each of the three counts carries a mandatory minimum penalty of five years in prison.

Ferreira-Cruz was behind bars in the Dominican Republic in connection with the orchestrated attack outside a nightclub earlier this month, a spokesman for Carpenito said. Ortiz, 43, was struck by bullets that were meant for someone else, according to Dominican Republic Attorney General Jean Alain Rodriguez.

Dominican authorities were also holding several other suspects in connection with the shooting of Ortiz, a slugger beloved in Boston for helping the Red Sox end an 86-year championship drought in 2004. He also starred on World Series champion teams in 2007 and 2013.

On Wednesday, Rodriguez told reporters the target was a man named Sixto David Fernandez, who was sitting with Ortiz and was similarly dressed.

The man suspected of planning the attack was Victor Hugo Gomez, a fugitive from U.S. justice with links to Mexico's Gulf Cartel drug gang, who believed Fernandez had betrayed him to law enforcement several years ago, Rodriguez said.

Ortiz was listed in good condition after being hospitalized and undergoing surgery in Boston, where he was transported a day after being shot in the back, a Red Sox spokesman said.

Georgians angry over Russian lawmaker's visit try to storm parliament

Crowds angry over the visit of a Russian lawmaker tried to storm Georgia's parliament building on Thursday evening, pushing against lines of riot police, throwing bottles, and grabbing riot shields from some officers and tearing off their helmets.

The scenes in Tbilisi, the Georgian capital, flared up suddenly after public anger over the visit and speech of a member of the Russian lower house of parliament triggered big street protests. Riot police used tear gas against the protesters, which prompted some of them to disperse.

Russian influence in Georgia remains a politically sensitive subject after the small country, a U.S. ally, fought and lost a short war against Moscow in 2008.

The two countries have not had diplomatic ties since, and Russia went on to recognize the independence of two breakaway regions, South Ossetia and Abkhazia, where Russian troops are now garrisoned.

Georgia, which is crisscrossed by energy pipelines, hopes to one day join the European Union and NATO, an ambition that has not gone down well in Moscow, the country's former Soviet overlord.

Thursday's protests were sparked by a visit by Sergei Gavrilov, who was leading a Russian delegation that was taking part in the Interparliamentary Assembly on Orthodoxy (IAO), a body set up by the Greek parliament in 1993 to foster relationships between Christian Orthodox lawmakers. REUTERS

Achilles Hope & Possibility road race set for Sunday

Sunday's 4-mile race in Central Park is designed for people of all abilities.

BECCA GLASSER-BAKER
Rebecca.Glasser@metro.us

Central Park will welcome back the 17th Annual Achilles Hope & Possibility 4-mile road race by TD Bank on Sunday.

The race, which kicks off at 8:30 a.m., was inspired by Trisha Meili's New York Times bestselling memoir, "I Am the Central Park Jogger: A Story of Hope & Possibility."

More than 7,500 people are expected to participate in the race, sponsored by TD Bank and one of the largest in the world to support people with disabilities (it allows runners of all abilities to participate). Wounded veterans, Paralympians, and children with disabilities are among those to participate.

works well because both have similar missions of "supporting the underdog."

"The philosophy of TD is very much our philosophy," Traum said, "which is really an interest in the underdog."

TD Bank Regional President Andrew Bregenzner agreed with Traum.

"The opportunity to sponsor the Achilles Hope and Possibility Race was a natural extension of our shared purpose," he said. For Traum, one goal of the race is to promote a connection between able-bodied people, and people with disabilities.

Bregenzner echoed Traum, saying, "it's about supporting people of all abilities to achieve their full potential and ensuring that everyone has equal opportunity." He added, "It's not just about the dollars invested into community initiatives. What we stand for and how we show up matters."

Dick Traum, an amputee and the founder and President of Achilles International, gained recognition as being the first man to complete the New York Marathon with a prosthetic leg. Traum was inspired to create Achilles to help normalize and destigmatize disabled runners.

Although the race has been around for 17 years, the Achilles International organization dates back to the 1980s, and since its creation, it has continued to grow worldwide.

Doctors Urge Knee Pain Sufferers

“Don’t Get ANY Surgery Until You See This...”

After Years Of Intense Study, NYC Medical Clinic Finally Reveals It's Best “Treatment Formula” For Helping Knee Arthritis Sufferers... Especially When So Many Other Treatments Have Failed

NEW YORK CITY - If you are even remotely interested in discovering how the latest scientific discoveries can possibly help your knee pain... then this is going to be the most exciting information you ever read.

Here is why: Knee pain can not only be brutal... it's complex. In other words, it's not a simple, easy fix.

But I'm sure you already know that. Or you wouldn't be reading this.

That's the bad news.

Now for some good news...

Over the years, NYC Pain MD has treated countless knee pain sufferers. And in that time have been able to constantly improve.

And we have come up with a treatment formula that we have found works best and helps the most patients.

This formula has reduced or even eliminated the pain in many. Some were scheduled for knee replacement surgery and felt good enough to cancel their surgery.

It's amazing when patients who were once in excruciating pain... start feeling better. And start walking again. And playing golf. Or tennis. And finally getting their lives back.

Especially when they had gone to other doctors and tried so many other things.

So many had given up hope.

Sound familiar? If it does... check this out...

The Treatment Formula

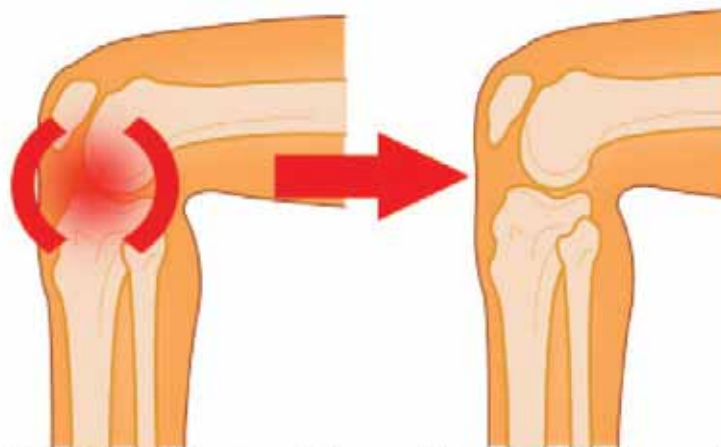

While I can't give you the entire treatment formula here (there is not enough space and WAY too complicated) I can give you the basics. And more important... I can tell you what it might be able to do for YOU.

The first and most important part of the formula is: PATIENT SELECTION.

This means, NYC Pain MD has a detailed screening process to tell who is most likely to be helped by their treatments... and who is not.

If you qualify, you have the opportunity to move forward and experience the worldclass treatments that NYC Pain MD offers.

If you do not, NYC Pain MD will tell you what they think your best options are and help you find the right doctor for you.

NYC Pain MD “Treatment Formula” A protocol of advanced medical treatments that has already helped thousands.

If you qualify, NYC Pain MD offers some of the most advanced medical treatments available today all using the most advanced imaging technology including:

- Viscosupplementation (gel injections)
- Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP)
- Stem Cell Therapy (Lipogems)
- Genicular Knee Block
- And more.

Once again, there is not enough space to go into detail about all these procedures... but here are some things you MUST KNOW...

Viscosupplementation is where a doctor introduces a gel-like medicine directly into the joint space. This helps to lubricate the joints often relieving some, most or even all of your pain. Results can last for 6 months to several years.

Many have had these treatments without good results. However, NYC Pain MD feels this is because doctors often do these “gel injections” without advanced imaging to guide them. Research shows they will often miss the joint. If the joint is missed... it is impossible for the treatment to work.

NYC Pain MD has spared no expense and used advanced imaging to guide the injections assuring the medicine gets into the joint. We frequently get results when this treatment was a failure done elsewhere.

The second thing you must know is... our treatment plans are custom made for every patient. And we have all these treatments offered in the same place. Many times you will get the best results from multiple treatments. At NYC Pain MD your doctors will all be there and will all know each other and you and your case. They work together and give you the best treatments and care without you having to go anywhere else.

The ability to select the right patients and then have the potential to give them any or all of these treatments... with all the necessary medical technology... under one roof... has allowed NYC Pain MD to get better results than they thought possible.

Here's What You Should Do Next

If you suffer with knee pain... and any of this made sense to you... NYC Pain MD would like to offer you a No-cost screening. That screening is the first step in our “Treatment Formula.”

You will get to see a doctor and ask any questions you have. Your doctor will take the first steps to see if you qualify for treatments and give you recommendations.

The best thing is... you will finally get direction. You will know what's going on and what is your best course of action... step-by-step. The treatments will be explained in detail and you will breathe a big sigh of relief finally knowing what's going on and what can or cannot be done.

There is so much we want to say to help you... but I'm out of space. Give us a call at 877-296-6310 and take the first step. That step is free without obligation.

Jessie Buckley as Rose-Lynn Harlan. NEON

Songs, passion and the truth

Jessie Buckley takes on the role of Rose-Lynn Harlan in "Wild Rose." MOLLY GIVEN

Passion and dreams go hand in hand. Everyone in life has something they yearn for either silently or out loud.

Rose-Lynn Harlan played by Jessie Buckley in the new film "Wild Rose" certainly displays the latter. "Wild Rose" follows the story of the tenacious and colorful country songstress Rose-Lynn and her quest to make it to the United States and sing her way to stardom in Nashville.

But life, children, a strict mother, no finances and her recent stint in prison make her dream more complicated to achieve. Jessie Buckley sat down with Metro to give the scoop on her role in "Wild Rose", her new love of country music and why she thinks to have passion is to truly believe in yourself.

Buckley, a native of Ireland, is an experienced musician but had to take on a new skill set when learning to sing the popular American genre. "There is a kind of secret country movement in Ireland and Glasgow", says Buckley. "I had never sung country before, but I have done a bit of music. My mom's a musician and singer so I grew up in a musical household. Getting into country and that genre of music was a whole new adventure for me—it was great, I loved it."

The 29-year old says it was the honesty of the music that drew her in. "For me, the thing that kind of changed my life was the lyrics that are in country. They are very simple stories about people in their day to day life doing mundane things, but they somehow manage to capture the emotion of these people. People who are dreaming about something, or struggling against something or having their heart broken, or caught being cheated on or just wanting something for themselves. It's not something that is sparkled up, it tells a story about very real things often. The music isn't trying to embellish in any way. It's purely about the honesty about what the characters and people are living in the song, and that's the truth. You have to be truthful when you sing it as well."

That yearning and truth is what drives Rose-Lynn to continually reach for the stars, even when it seemed like the universe was against her, which for most of the film, it was. Despite the many setbacks and, to be perfectly honest, selfish actions Rose-Lynn takes in the film, her spirit is pure and tenacious, and frankly—unwilling to be broken. Something to admire, especially if you are equally yearning for a chance in life.

"She just had a passion, and when you're passionate about something or you fall in love with something or fall in love with someone, it can drive you mad," says Buckley. "It can drive you to keep moving forward, and she had a kind of unbelievable self-belief that there was something more to her life than the four walls that she was allowed to dream in or live in. That kind of tenacious courage was so exciting and terrifying and definitely challenged me as a person."

"Wild Rose" showcases the glitz and glam of a dream as well as the harsh reality of life—but the film also shows that one does not cancel out the other.

The story itself displays the desperate passion of a talented musician, but also showcases the inner struggle of accepting who you are and what you can do, not just what you want yourself to be. "I think that is the journey that she goes on. She thinks she has to run so far away from herself to be able to belong to this world, and become a different identity. Who you are and where you're from, and the stories you have in your own life and in your heart are the stories you need to say," says Buckley. "What she realizes is that she needs to accept that what she needs to say in her music is right back at home. Because that's all she knows, and her own individuality and her own story is powerful and beautiful—no one else can sing those songs, only her."

"Wild Rose" is now in theaters

The Duke product is officially a new face of hope for the Knicks.

JOE PANTORNO
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

Contrary to the track record of a franchise that has made the questionable decision commonplace, the New York Knicks followed common sense.

RJ Barrett is officially on his way to Madison Square Garden, the Knicks taking the Duke product with the No. 3 pick of the 2019 NBA Draft Thursday night in Brooklyn.

Since the Knicks came away with the third selection last month at the NBA Draft Lottery, Barrett was the only logical choice considering the top two picks were locks.

The New Orleans Pelicans took Zion Williamson — the most highly-touted draft prospect since LeBron James — at No. 1. The Memphis Grizzlies followed by selecting point guard Ja Morant from Murray State.

Memphis wasted no time ushering in the Morant era, either, as they traded away star point guard Mike Conley Jr. to the Utah Jazz on Wednesday.

Barrett was clearly the third-best prospect in the class of 2019. Considering the Knicks have glaring needs almost everywhere on the roster, the 6-foot-7 wing is the kind of bona fide talent to build on for the future.

Here is what you need to know about the newest Knick:

STRENGTHS

- Impressive build for a player his age. With the size of a small forward and the scoring ability of a guard, Barrett has a 6-foot-10 wingspan that will help get shots over and around defenders.

- His athleticism allows him to open up offensive opportunities from almost anywhere on the floor. He is almost

- unguardable in transition when paired with his length.

- Has the demeanor to thrive in New York. Does not shy away from the big moment and welcomes high expectations — which will certainly come with playing on the

- An ability to vary his speeds when on the ball throws opposing defenders off their game.

- Has the court vision and passing ability to help facilitate the offense if the opposing defense's main priority is shutting him down.

- Solid spot shooter in games when allowed proper time and space.

- Holds the promise of becoming an elite defender if he can commit to that side of the ball.

WEAKNESSES

- His ball-handling has been suspect. Barrett has shown a tendency to be loose in possession while working with the ball further away from his body.

- Poor decision-making at times, especially when it comes to his shot selection. It serves as a reminder that his game still has plenty of maturing to do.

- Can be a streaky shooter that could stymie an offense when he's off his game. Shot less than 60 percent from the free-throw line at Duke.

- Despite his size and length, Barrett struggles at times against larger defenders in the paint. Lacks that overwhelming finishing ability at the rim.

WHAT THE KNICKS CAN DO MOVING FORWARD

The 19-year-old can slot in at the shooting guard or small forward spot given his size and athleticism. It will give the Knicks the flexibility to go out and pursue a max-salary, free-agent point guard if they so choose.

Kyrie Irving and Kemba Walker could be had on the market come July 1.

Dennis Smith Jr. — who is held highly by Knicks management — could slot in at shooting guard while Barrett takes over the 3.

For the time being, Kevin Knox could slot in at power forward. That may be for only one year, however, if the Knicks choose to go all-in on the injured Kevin Durant. The Warriors star is likely to miss the 2019-20 season with a ruptured Achilles.

At center, the Knicks could bring back DeAndre Jordan or hand the keys to the young and promising Mitchell Robinson, which would keep with the theme of the Knicks building a young core.

USWNT beats Sweden, takes Group F

While the result isn't as dramatic as an Olympic quarterfinal, the United States was able to provide some payback to Sweden on Thursday with a 2-0 victory at the 2019 FIFA Women's World Cup.

Goals from Lindsey Horan and Tobin Heath were enough to get past the defensive-minded Swedes, who had conceded just one goal in their first two matches.

The win ensured the United States won Group F with nine points, three better than Sweden. They now head into the Round of 16 knockout stage, where they will meet Spain on June 24.

They wasted little time exacting such revenge as Horan scored the fastest goal at this year's World Cup with an easy tap-in at the 3-minute mark.

Off a corner delivered by Megan Rapinoe, a run to the near post by Sam Mewis saw the midfielder provide a pristine flick to the uncovered Horan for the goal.

The quick strike seemed to catch Sweden napping as they built a reputation of being a defensive-first side when playing against some of the best teams in the world. It was that counter-attacking strategy that eliminated the U.S. from the quarterfinals at the 2016 Summer Olympics three years ago.

Sweden managed to settle down after that and stay clean for the remainder of the first half, continuously absorbing United States pressure and turning away their numerous shot attempts.

In the first 45 minutes alone, the United States attempted 12 shots while seven found their way on target as Swedish keeper Hedvig Lindahl was plenty busy. Heath finally provided a second for the U.S. in the 50th minute — though FIFA officials inexplicably changed it to an own goal — thanks to an individual display of brilliance down the right end line. The American forward deked her she's been at the World Cup. Sweden was able to nab a few chances on the counter against a short-handed U.S. defense, recording six shots on Thursday.

Julie Ertz, the calming defensive presence in either the midfield or back line, was a last-minute scratch after suffering a minor hip contusion.

Given her value, it was a notable absence in such a large game. However, the combination of midfielder Lindsey Horan alongside center backs Becky Sauerbrunn and Abby Dahlkemper managed to hold things together.

Granted, there were some shaky moments throughout the match as Sweden sent its strikers up to apply pressure on the back line. They most notably keyed in on forward-turned-left back Crystal Dunn and created a few turnovers in the process.

The defense did just enough, though, to ensure that the United States' clean-sheet streak continued. It has now been seven straight matches in which the Americans have not conceded a goal.
